

Group Reflection:

This worksheet should be used in various places of the learning process. The questions and thoughts will be answered by all in a review of our previous work.

The leader will facilitate the process.

Have we listened to each other?
What have we learned that was new to me?
What did we get wrong in our process?
What improvements going forward should we do?
Were all given a chance to participate?
Did we hit any roadblocks in our process and what were they?
What changes in the subject would we make based on our review?
